THREATENING LETTER.

Threats to kill President William H. Taft, Mayor Broad Whitlock, Joseph Cannon, speaker of the House of Representatives, and Pat McCarran, state senator from Brooklyn, were contained in a letter sent to Mr. Cannon in Washington, from Toledo, March 19, and signed "Polish Voter."

Poorly written in ink, in a scrawly hand the letter reads:

"Sir: I have been reading about you. Now, I am a Polishman. My uncle told me to kill three bad men in Russia and I will kill you. I will give you one year to better yourself. If you don't better I will kill you and Taft and McCarran. I have friends in Brooklyn, N. Y. I am no fool or crank. I have a wife and 5 children. I had a house nearly paid for and lost all for you and hard times. Mayor Whitlock tells boys to play ball in street and break windows. I fixed three windows last summer. Whitlock don't pay for glass. We fix that sleeper next fall. All time sleep, sometimes a week, then ride book. He is no good. If he be mayor again we kill him. POLISH VOTER."

BRIDE BOUND AND GAGGED.

Unconscious, bound and gagged, with her arms and body bruised, and her throat terribly burned with carbolic acid, Mrs. Russell Culbertson, a young bride, was found in a woodshed at her home yesterday afternoon in Vincennes, Ind., dying. A heavy white cloth was wrapped round her head. It held the burning liquid from scorching and spread it over her face. Mrs. Culbertson regained consciousness when stimulants were administered and said: "A man and woman dragged me into the shed and poured the stuff down my throat." Then she lapsed into unconsciousness. The woman cannot live. Four days ago the police were called to the residence of Mrs. Culbertson, a former sweetheart of Russell Culbertson, is suspected by the police of having a hand in the murder.

DRUGGED ON TRAIN.

That a band of swindlers is operating on several lines of railroads running into New York, using novel means to relieve their victims of their valuables, was learned by a complaint made yesterday to a private detective bureau by William Leggett, of Philadelphia.

Leggett said that he was on a Pennsylvania train Tuesday coming to New York when an affable stranger engaged him in conversation. The man offered him a cigar, says Leggett, which he smoked, becoming dizzy and soon thereafter falling asleep.

When he awoke his watch, a diamond pin and a roll of bills amounting to about $700 were missing. Leggett says that he complained to the railroad of this and they asked him to keep the matter quiet, as they were working to capture the swindlers, having had other complaints of a similar nature.

Uncle Remus, the home magazine for March, which has been received from its publishers in Atlanta, opens with a startling editorial by Julian Harris, its editor, entitled "Shall the Solid South be Shattered?" It deals with the political conditions in the south.

A delightfully written article tells of the inaugurations of Washington and Jefferson and is illustrated from photographs of rare pictures. In the fourth part of "Menses of the Mark" the recent trial and sentencing of Tennessee night rider is touched on, Jack London's serial grows in interest and the short story is good. An "Uncle Remus story" and "The Kidnaping of President Lincoln," a little known historic occurrence, are from the pen of the late Joel Chandler Harris. The several departments are full of suggestions and comment.

For Diseases of the Skin.

Nearly all diseases of the skin such as eczema, tetter, salt rheum and barbers' itch, are characterized by an intense itching and smarting, which often makes life a burden and disturbs sleep and rest. Quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlain's Salve. It allays the itching and smarting almost instantly. Many cases have been cured by its use. For sale by W. F. Creighton & Co., and Richard Gibson.
